City of Fort Wayne

Re: Animal License Fee Ordinance

The Board of Directors of The Fort Wayne Humane Society, commends the Council for their continuing efforts in the care of animals and in the reduction of the animal population of the city. Proper licensing is but one measure in this process and in the spirit of developing the best form of licensing, we submit the following suggestions on the Ordinance now under consideration.

1. The present $5.00 license fee has not resulted in significant voluntary compliance. Assuming the license cost to be a factor, it seems probable that $20.00 for a license will result in significant lesser compliance - at least on a voluntary basis.

2. The cost of animal licenses should be determined within the perspective of costs for other licenses with which the general citizenry is confronted as distinguished from specialized areas that touch only a commercial or otherwise limited group. We recommend an examination of other such license charges so that the annual cost of a license for a dog or cat will appear reasonable within this relationship.

3. When the Comprehensive Humane Ordinance was passed two years ago, we suggested an alternative to a central licensing office. That proposal would make animal licenses available to citizens in a manner similar to which hunting and fishing licenses are sold. Under this plan, anyone interested in providing such licenses would buy a book of licenses from the City and re-sell them through their own animal-related business (grooming clinic, pet shop, kennel, veterinary office, animal supply store and the like). The licenses would sell for a few dollars with a small proportion retained by the issuing agent to offset the cost of the service. A copy of the license could be indexed to show the type of animal, breed, sex, color, age, weight, etc. and thus serve a supplemental function for locating the owners of lost animals.

4. It is our conclusion that the generation of funds for the benefit of the Shelter and the Spay-Neuter Clinic will meet with greater success by the sale of a larger number of licenses at a lesser cost, rather than a few licenses at a high cost. The small advertisement on the counter of a grooming clinic will invite convenient compliance as against the time and travel that would confront the animal owner to procure licenses from a sole central location.

5. The Fort Wayne Humane Society stands ready to provide further service to the Council in the development of this and any other Ordinance revisions as may be appropriate.

Sincerely,

Board of Directors,
Fort Wayne Humane Society, Inc.

The Fort Wayne Humane Society, Inc. is a private non-profit organization dedicated to advancing the cause of humane treatment of animals.

It was organized in 1887 and has been supported by private gifts and the dues of members. Grants and bequests from the Wills of humane-minded individuals have made up the principal share of its operating funds. The Society maintains no regular office, has no paid employees, and is thus able to use 100% of its financial resources in furtherance of its announced cause.

The Fort Wayne Humane Society, Inc. is separate and distinct from the Fort Wayne Humane Animal Shelter at 2225 Dwenger Avenue, although the original Shelter and its facilities were an outright gift by the Society to the City of Fort Wayne in 1948. The Shelter is the proper agency for the enforcement of humane laws and ordinances and for caring for stray or abandoned animals.

The Society's programs include providing free emergency veterinary service to stray animals and animals belonging to indigent owners. The sponsoring of the Be-Kind-To-Animals poster contest, the dissemination of humane literature and information regarding humane laws and ordinances; assistance to the clean-up of oil spills in foreign lands, contributions for special needs and purposes at the Humane Shelter; and support of the new American Humane Association's "hearing ear" dogs for the hard-of-hearing.
